"Special Support Fee" shall mean standard commercial time and material rates defined by Us and reimbursement for all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses involved in investigating the problem.

If critical or major technical issue is to be solved with a future software upgrade, or through a future update package, or through a documentation update, SysAid will make commercially reasonable efforts to advise You on how to bypass the error.

SysAid does not guarantee problems will be fixed in any specific timeframe. However, as You may understand, it is the goal of SysAid to make commercially reasonable efforts to satisfactorily resolve each incident using SysAid support system.

When necessary, You will allow SysAid to initiate remote troubleshooting, and make available to SysAid one or more of your designated employees knowledgeable in information services at such times and to the extent as may be reasonably required by SysAid to perform its services hereunder.

The Support Services does not include (1) any on-site support or assistance at your premises, (2) installation of any of Our products, (3) any SysAid pre-sales operations or training, or (4) preparation or delivery of any documentation other than the existing product documentation (for example instructions for customer specific tasks).

3. Software Updates

Any Software installation package released by Us after You had initially installed the Software is considered as an Update. The Minor Update is a release containing bug fixes, improving the convenience of use and providing minor extensions to the Software functionality. The Major Update is a release essentially changing or extending the Software functionality compared to the previous version (such as new modules, etc.).

During the period in which You are eligible for Support Services from Us, You will be granted the right to receive (download) and install all the Minor Updates to the version initially installed.

Installation of a Major Update, however, may or may not require an upgrade fee, which is at the sole discretion of SysAid. Installation of the Minor Update does not require repeating the registration procedure, as the registration data will be inherited from the previous installation. Installation of a Major Update may, however, require new registration.

You may install Minor Updates or Major Updates over your existing installation only during the Term of the Agreement OR in case of a Full Edition under a Perpetual Mode – when You are within a Consecutive Support Period.

4. Exclusions From Support Services

The Support Services provided by SysAid under this Agreement also do not include:

- Maintenance or repair of hardware or other equipment belonging to You;
- Maintenance or modifications to any software, whether such software is required for the use of the Software or not;
- Service required due to your misuse of the Software or alterations or modifications thereof that were not authorized or performed by Us (including any modification to the database definitions, data structure, or data integrity). Upon your request, SysAid shall review any modifications to the Software made by You to determine whether such modifications invalidate SysAid rights or instructions. SysAid shall confirm its determination to You promptly in writing. You will be charged with Special Support Fee for such SysAid review and determination.
